What to expect from the job

This isn't another standard recruitment job – think of yourself as a business consultant, an advisor who helps your clients make the right talent decisions.

You'll prioritise developing a talent pool and creating genuine relationships with candidates. This allows you to authentically promote the best candidates for each job role.

As a consultant at GAN, you'll work closely with your team to solve your clients' talent challenges. You'll take charge of the process and drive innovative ideas that make an impact.

You'll be rewarded for your work, thanks to our genuinely meritocratic, collaborative and trusting culture. Your success increases the more you work with your team, share information, and co-broker deals.

What you'll need to succeed

We're looking for people who fit with our values and have what it takes to elevate our business to new heights. As such, you don't necessarily need any recruitment experience (we're great at making new team members excellent recruiters), but we'd love for you to bring your personality to the table.

You'll fit in great if you are:

- ✔ A strong and open communicator
- ✔ Able to take ownership and work autonomously
- ✔ Good at showing empathy and understanding
- ✔ Able to build relationships and collaborate
- ✔ Driven to deliver excellent results, even in tough circumstances
- ✔ Fun to work with!
